

The background of the image is a weathered stone wall. On the left side, there is a dark wooden door. Above the door, there are several red paint splatters and drips that appear to be bleeding down the door frame. The stone wall is made of irregular, light-colored stones with visible mortar. A horizontal banner with a gold gradient background is overlaid across the middle of the image.

The background of the slide features a textured wall made of irregular, light-colored stones. On the right side, there is a vertical wooden plank, possibly part of a door, which has several red paint splatters or stains on it. The overall lighting is warm and slightly dim, creating a somber or historical atmosphere.

The owner of the house was responsible for the lives of those in covenant as soon as they entered the house even if that meant death.
(Psalms 91)(Genesis 19:2-8)
